Hello Birders

Well, I wasn't sure we would have a successful birding day as it poured with rain all the way to the airstrip at Mooliabeenee but it find up sufficiently for it to go ahead.

The day turned out to be quite successful in spite of our trepidation about the weather. We managed to spot 25 birds as walked along the airstrip.

There were a number of white-cheeked honey eaters which we don't often see along with Woodswallows. The wood swallows have been absent from our counts for some time. A scarlet robin came to us while we had morning tea. They are a curious little bird not at all shy.

Our next birding day on Saturday is at Ghost Gum Reserve and to make it a good day Chris and Gary will host our morning tea at their place. We are bound to see more birds in the backyard.

Thanks Chris and Gary for the kind invitation.

Regards Rosanna and Sue
